Greater Jacksonville Paddling Guide

For more paddle times and information about the history, waterways, wildlife, tides and much more along the Greater Jacksonville Paddling Trails, visit: www.greaterjacksonvillepaddlingtrail.org

The Jacksonville Paddling Trails are a series of waterways that wind through the city of Jacksonville, Florida. The trails offer a variety of paddling experiences for people of all skill levels. From beginner-friendly flatwater sections to challenging white water rapids, there is something for everyone.

The maps show the locations of various launch points, boat ramps, and trailheads along the paddling trails. The trails are divided into sections, each with its own unique character and features. The maps also include information about accessibility, skill level, and special notes for each section.

For more information about the Greater Jacksonville Paddling Trails, visit www.greaterjacksonvillepaddlingtrail.org.